The Carmel Pine Cone

By M. C. Patrick

The breathless moment has arrived! Categories are chosen and the judges selected for the Great Sand Castle Contest to be held Sunday on Carmel Beach sponsored by the local branch of the American Institute of Architects.

Three prizes, plus honorable mention, will be awarded in each of these dazzling categories:

1. SPECTACULAR CASTLES: These are to be of definite architectural style, impressive size, and authentic adornment. Fit for any well-heeled king!

2. COLOSSAL UNCASTLES: Original sand sculptures or imitations of great works, such as Mt. Rushmore, the Tower of Pisa, Cannery Row. That sort of thing!

3. LIECHTENSTEINIAN CASTLES: Small, traditional (or castle-type-castles, suitable for a king without U.S. Foreign Aid.

4. NOUVEAU RICHE: Those projects displaying little or no attention to architectural disciplines. (Catch-all category for judges' convenience).

5. CHILDREN: Kiddies are free to exercise their imaginations. Prizes will be awarded to those least hampered by adult interference and showing the greatest craftsmanship and zeal.

Grand Marshal Don Brown will be ably assisted by Marshals David Smith and Jim Kramer. William Ricker is in charge of the prizes which will include a grand prize and a special award for largest and most confused entry.

Having passed the strictest aptitude tests, been screened, interrogated, and fingerprinted, the following men have been cleared and pronounced fit judges for the Great Sand Castle Contest: Structural engineer Stephen Sassoon, importer Joe Danysh, architects Fred Keeble and Walter Burde, and Gus Arriola, creator of Gordo. There is a sixth judge whose identity is being kept secret for reasons of security.

The tide will be outgoing shortly after 10:00 a.m.

Body Found In Carmel Woods Burning House

One-half hour after Carmel Hill fire patrol station men and equipment arrived, last night, at a dwelling involved in flames one block outside the city limits, the body of Mrs. D. Mildred Rives, 62, was found in the living room of the house.

According to the report of the Carmel Hill station maintained by the state division of forestry, a telephone call from Mrs. Paul H. Bickel at 2:19 a.m. informed the station that there was a fire at Dolores Street and Castro Lane.

When Hill station men and equipment arrived at the scene of the fire at 2:23 a.m., they found the living room and kitchen area of the house completely involved in flames and a call for mutual aid fire protection was made to the Carmel Highlands volunteer fire department.

Informed that someone might be in the burning house, the firefighters explored as much of the building as flames permitted. When the fire was controlled sufficiently one-half hour after the Hill station arrived at the blaze, the body of Mrs. Rives was found. The fire was declared out at 4:46 a.m. and all but one unit of the Hill equipment returned to the station. The remaining unit stood by for another hour to make sure everything was completely controlled.

The Hill station responded to the fire call with three fire trucks, two pickups and seven or eight men. Carmel Highlands sent one truck and six men.

The Carmel Volunteer Fire Department was not called by the Hill station and could not answer the several calls received from Woods residents because the blaze was outside the city limits.

Fire damage to the house in which Mrs. Rives was found was extensive, the Hill station reports, and the areas saved are damaged by smoke.

The county coroner's office will perform an autopsy to determine the exact cause of Mrs. Rives' death. She is said to have a daughter, Mrs. Edward Reece of San Jose who has been notified of the tragedy.

Editor's Column

During the city council's ad hoc committee meetings with residents of unincorporated county areas from which requests to circulate annexation petitions have been received, also at the Suburban Council meeting Monday night, one matter of concern to both the city and the county areas received considerable attention. This was the mutual fire protection aid agreement between the City of Carmel and the State of California, Department of Conservation, Division of Forestry.

Because there appears to be a need for clarification of the agreement, I took advantage of the privilege extended to all Carmel residents, also by the invitation of Councilman Eben Whittlesey, chairman of the ad hoc committee, to all residents of the areas where annexation is a matter of prime concern. I went to city hall.

On August 5, 1964 a five-year mutual fire protection aid agreement was signed between the city and the state division of forestry which maintains a fire patrol sta-

Citizens Advisory Committee Named By School Trustees

Following the announcement, last night, of the names of 40 persons who will serve on the Citizens Advisory Committee to the board of education of the Carmel Unified School District, Mrs. Herbert B. Blanks, a member of the board, was elected chairman by the trustees. She set the time of the first meeting of the committee for December 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the Carmel High School music building.

The citizens committee was formed at the suggestion of Superintendent Medill Bair. Members,

Community Church To Give Reception For New Minister

To introduce the Reverend and Mrs. Burkert Cree to the Peninsula, the Board of Governors of the Community Church is inviting friends to meet and welcome the newcomers on Sunday afternoon at the Casa Estrada in Monterey.

Mr. Cree is a graduate of Earlham College and Harvard Divinity School. He also studied in Europe. Mrs. Cree is a native of Switzerland. With their two small sons, they have recently come to Carmel from Wisconsin. The reception will be held from 2 - 4 p.m.

Mr. Cree was presented to the Community Church congregation at services held on November 22.

Fire Protection Is Main Suburban Council Topic

Establishment of county service areas to provide more adequate fire protection for subdivisions in the unincorporated area on the periphery of Carmel was the main subject discussed Monday night by 17 persons who attended the Suburban Council meeting in the Carmel Rancho Community Room.

Also discussed was an erroneous report that these same areas were protected only by one state division of forestry truck when fires raged in various parts of California during October.

At the request of Chairman John S. Coates of Carmel Woods, John J. Walsh of Carmel Point reported on the number, type and location of hydrants located in the peripheral areas. The number of hydrants varied from 21 on Carmel Point, which has a county fire protection service area, to Mission Fields which has no service area and only one hydrant.

Mr. Walsh stated that residents of the areas inadequately supplied with hydrants "should do something immediately."

COUNTY SERVICE AREAS

This led Mr. Coates to state that the first objective of the Suburban Council should be to aid such areas in obtaining service districts and hydrants. He explained that any service district requests must be approved by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors this month for inclusion in the June, 1965 budget. First step, he indicated, was to consult with County Counsel William H. Stoffers in Salinas.

Harold C. Arnot of Carmel Point told those present that it is possible for a contiguous area to annex to an already established service area such as exists on Carmel Point. Cost of the service area on the Point is 5 - 6 cents per $100 assessed valuation, he added.

Major General James H. Phillips (USA ret.) of Rancho Rio Vista said that the county service area recently established in Rancho Rio Vista is expected to cost property owners ten cents per $100 assessed valuation in county taxes. However, the 14 hydrants servicing the subdivision may well reduce fire insurance rates on dwellings by $30 - $40 dollars.

At the request of Mr. Walsh, State Forest Ranger John P. Wade from King City and supervisor of District Five state fire patrol stations, including the one on Carmel Hill, was present at Monday's meeting. Also there, at Mr. Walsh's request, was Assistant State Forest Ranger Harry McCauley who is in charge of the Carmel Hill fire patrol station maintained by the state division of forestry. This station protects

No. 84

The simple things are best for gifts;
What counts is what comes from our hearts;
So while you're making out your lists,
Remember where real giving starts.

For that sweet angel in your life,
A plain chinchilla wrap will do.
Or, if for husband from his wife,
A simple yacht, with love from you.

A child would rather have a Jag.
Than those expensive building blocks.
And any dame without a rag
Would rather have a mink than stocks.

My wife is simple in her needs
To make her little soul rejoice.
She wrote a note which tersely reads:
"Dear Santa: Please: a pink Rolls-Royce."

It's better to receive than give;
But givers rank above the rest,
If those with whom you have to live
Get simply nothing but the best.

ERRONEOUS REPORT

Mr. McCauley stated that it was not true that during the acute fire situation in the state during October that equipment at the Carmel Hill station had been sent to other parts of the state. Only one man, with borrowed equipment, had left his station during the critical period, he declared.

"If anything, we were more heavily staffed than normally," he asserted. Days off were frozen and the men held on duty. As a result of this, the normal complement of two trucks, two drivers and a dispatcher were on duty all during the danger period, he told those at the Suburban Council meeting.

He further stated that the hill station trucks each carry 500 gallons of water and are equipped with 1750 feet of two-and-one-half inch hose; 1900 feet of one-and-one-half inch hose; and 600 feet of one-inch hose.

"This is the same as any city law specifies," he continued, then pointed out the advantages of the mutual aid agreement which the Carmel Hill station has with Peninsula cities, rural fire districts and the Army and Navy fire departments on the Peninsula.

However, Mr. Wade stated that the Carmel Hill equipment does not meet the specified basic requirements of the board of fire underwriters for structural fire protection.

EQUIPMENT PROPOSED

Mr. Arnot then asked Mr. Wade if it were a good idea for the peripheral areas to purchase the structural fire equipment and finance the purchase by a county service tax area. He suggested that the outside areas, with an assessed evaluation of $15 million dollars ,would suffer no undue hardship in acquiring equipment costing $15,000 - $20,000.

"Highly desirable," was Mr. Wade's answer but he added that such a purchase should only be considered providing it was supported in an agreement made with some governmental body, also that all the areas involved agreed where the equipment should be located.

He observed that any hope of the county supplying more equipment would be "a hard sell" because there might be considerable opposition from Carmel which supports the station on Carmel Hill with general county taxation monies.

"We would be on the right track then to put in hydrants and furnish equipment?" Mr. Arnot queried and received an emphatic "Yes" from Mr. Wade.

PERSONNEL COSTS

James Pruitt of Carmel Woods then ascertained from Mr. Wade that the Carmel Hill station, as now set up, could not staff the additional equipment.

Mr. Wade said, however, that if there was sufficient money from county tax service area funds to support additional equipment and personnel needs, the staff could be increased but any state division of forestry employee must be paid according to established wage scales, also receive retirement, sick leave and accident benefits.

"This figure is staggering," he commented.

MUTUAL AID

Earlier in the evening Mr. Wade referred to the mutual aid agreement between the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department and the Carmel Hill Fire Patrol Station as "a back-scratching agreement."

He said that Carmel would only respond to fires in the incorporated areas if Mr. McCauley requested such aid. Reciprocally, the division of forestry station was obligated to respond to a request made by the Carmel fire department.

Mr. McCauley remarked that the board of fire underwriters' contention that his fire fighting equipment might be in Salinas when it was needed on the Peninsula was valid. He cited the instance of when Monterey had to put out a fire on Jacks Peak as an example of such a situation.

The next meeting of the Suburban Council will be on January 4. At this time and thereafter, the council hopes to have representatives from all the 15 areas around Carmel represented at meetings set for the first Monday of each month. Mrs. Coates was elected secretary of the Suburban Council on Monday.

Purpose of the group, which replaces the disbanded Carmel Unincorporated organization is to discuss problems common to all county areas on the periphery of Carmel.

Hosts will be Mr. Haber, Judge Richard C. Eldred, Commander James May (USN ret.), John Lohman, Jack Goggin of London, England, George Shafer, Myron E. Etienne Jr., and John Paul Jones, the club's manager.

Dear Frank,

Our Christmas shopping worries are over. I found just about everything I needed for the people on my list (and you know how difficult some of them are) down at the Phoenix in Big Sur. I had lunch at Nepenthe (right next door . . . marvelous!) and then browsed through the big new shop. They have some of the most marvelous things you ever saw. (Wait'll you see the crocheted hat I bought, it's a real kick . . . Lolly makes them.) Anyway, Christmas shopping turned out to be fun for a change, instead of a chore. When you get back we'll take a drive down there (gorgeous trip!) and maybe have dinner at Nepenthe after I look around the Phoenix again. I could spend hours just looking. Even Liz you-know-who bought some jewelry, she liked it that much.

Let's see, what else was I going to tell you? Oh, yes . . .

Symphony Concert Tuesday To Feature Local Musicians

A Monterey Peninsula composer, Charles Harlan, and pianists Camille Olaeta and Wade Parks will be featured in the December 7 and 8 concerts by the Monterey County Symphony.

The premiere of Mr. Harlan's work "Overture for Orchestra" will lead off the program which will take place in Carmel's Sunset Auditorium on Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Olaeta and Mr. Parks will be featured at duo pianos for a performance of Saint-Saens' "Carnival of the Animals," and a reading of Schumann's "Symphony No. 4 in D Minor" will round out the program which will be under the direction of Conductor John Gosling.

Composer Charles Harlan, a music instructor at Monterey High School, also serves as tympanist with the Monterey County Symphony. At present he is working on a series of chamber orchestra pieces which he expects to finish soon.

Mrs. Olaeta and Mr. Parks have both appeared previously with the symphony. The former's appearances with the symphony and chamber orchestras, also her participation in sonata duos, chamber trios and chamber quartets, are only a few of the musical activities that have won her community approval.

Mr. Parks, whose local recital appearances have been enthusiastically received, has also concertized extensively in the mid and far west. He will make his debut at New York City's Town Hall this spring after presenting a series of recitals on the west coast.

Only a few scattered seats remain for the Carmel performance and season ticket holders who may be unable to attend are asked to turn in their tickets for resale by telephoning 624-4125.

Also, last night, the board of education authorized use of the district's buses to transport children to the eleventh annual free youth concert which will be given by the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra in Carmel on January 16. This event is sponsored by the Junior League of the Monterey Peninsula.

Authorization to call for bids for new lockers in the boys' and girls' locker rooms at the high school was given. Mr. Bair explained that existing lockers have been in use since the school was built and are "in horrible shape." Estimated cost of providing and installing the new lockers was set at $16,000.

Charles Dawson, adult school principal, reported to the board that three students are now receiving home instruction because they are unable to attend school. William Mallek, principal of Tularcitos School, and William Wakefield, recreation director for the school district, reported on the six-week swimming instruction for fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils at Tularcitos this fall. The program was so successful that they both recommended it be repeated next year and also include third graders. Another recommendation was that the program be expanded to include other schools in the Carmel District.

Security National Mails Dividends

William A. Burkett, president of the Security National Bank, on Tuesday announced that a 12½% stock and cash dividend has been approved by the Comptroller of the Currency and has been mailed to the stockholders of the bank.

Mr. Burkett said that the dividend totaled $320,000.00 and that 90% of the bank's 90,000 shares outstanding are owned by residents of the Monterey Peninsula.

Security National Bank is the Peninsula's only home-owned bank. It was founded in Pacific Grove in 1889 and is celebrating its 75th anniversary. Other branches have been opened in Marina, Seaside and the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center since Mr. Burkett became president of the bank in 1961. The bank's Carmel branch, located in Pine Inn, will be opened for business on January 4 after extensive remodeling to continue the bank's policy of early American decor.

Mr. Burkett also announced that 10,000 additional shares of stock will be sold for the capitalization of two additional branches to be constructed in Monterey and in New Monterey next year. The stock will be sold only to depositors of the bank residing on the Monterey Peninsula, continuing the policy, he said, of maintaining local ownership of the bank.

Provisions of the agreement are as follows:

"To furnish fire protection personnel, equipment, materials, and supplies and to render such fire protection services to each other as may be necessary to suppress fire of a magnitude that has developed, or appears likely to develop, beyond the control of a single party and therefor requires the combined forces of the parties hereto.

"Such mutual aid shall be provided within the limits of the County of Monterey; provided, however, that neither party shall be required to deplete its own fire protection resources, personnel, services, and facilities to the detriment of its normal fire protection responsibilities.

"No response to a mutual aid request provided for in this agreement will be made by the parties hereto unless such request is received through the established communication channels common to each party and made by a responsible fire official of the party requesting such aid."

However, a resolution passed and adopted by the city council adds qualifications and controls to this agreement. This resolution is still in effect, according to City Clerk Hugh Bayless.

In October, 1959 the council resolved as follows:

"That except in cases of extreme urgency or in cases of a general conflagration threatening directly the safety of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, the Fire Department of the city shall respond to calls outside the city as follows:

"1. By sending only one city fire truck to answer calls for mutual aid to the following:

"2. By sending only one city fire truck in response to calls from the following:

A. Hospital; B. River and Woods Schools; C. Mission School; D. High School.

"4. THAT TWO CITY FIRE TRUCKS BE KEPT IN THE CITY FOR CITY FIRE PROTECTION AT THE TIME THE ABOVE CALLS ARE ANSWERED."

I hope that the above information will be of help to residents of Carmel who fear that the mutual fire protection aid agreement with the state might result in their homes being left unprotected in an emergency. I hope, too, that this column will clarify the responsibility of the city to the unincorporated areas protected by the Carmel Hill fire patrol station maintained by the state.

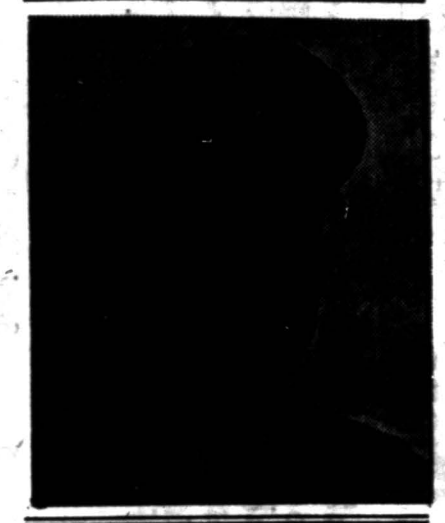
COMMISSIONED AND ENGAGED

Peter R. Osborne, son of Colonel R. E. Osborne, has been commissioned as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force, the branch of the armed forces in which his father served for 30 years before retiring to live in Carmel.

Pete also is engaged to be married.

Colonel Osborne flew to Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, to attend his son's graduation from officer training school and pinned one of the bars on Pete's shoulder at the commissioning ceremony. The other, at Pete's request, was pinned on by Major General Charles Lawrence (USAF ret.) of San Antonio, Texas, a family friend for many years.



Here on Thanksgiving leave, Pete told former Carmel High schoolmates of his engagement to Dorothy Dana Lamborn, a junior at the University of California in Santa Barbara. Pete met his fiancee at UCSB from which he graduated before entering the Air Force. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lamborn of Santa Barbara and affiliated with Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

They will be married on January 30 in historic Santa Barbara Mission.

Dorothy has a brother, Bob Lamborn, also a student at UCSB. Pete's sister is Mary Osborne, a teacher at River School. His brother is Brother Robert Osborne of the Society of Mary in Fribourg, Switzerland.

Pete left here on Monday for Travis Air Force Base near Fairfield where he will stay until he leaves California to attend supply school at Amarillo Air Force Base, Texas, in February.

He was selected for officer training school through competitive examination after obtaining his B.A. degree at UCSB.

Niels Reimers III Born

Niels Juel Reimers, the first child of Mr. and Mrs. Niels Reimers Jr. was born in Palo Alto on November 21 at Stanford Hospital. His birth weight was nine pounds, eleven ounces.

The baby was named after an ancestor, Admiral Niels Juel, 17th century Danish naval hero, also his father and Niels Reimers of Carmel who is a very proud first-time grandfather.

Gunnar Reimers will see his nephew for the first time when he arrives home for Christmas. An engineer for Philco, he was in Norway when the baby was born and will report back to Greenland before returning to the United States.

Elected To CEAC

Gilbert M. Neill and Clayton B. Neill Jr. have been admitted to membership in the Consulting Engineers Association of California, according to Hugh C. Carter, CEAC president.

They both are members of the Carmel firm of Neill Engineers Inc., headed by the young men's father, City Engineer Clayton B. Neill. Both are graduates of Carmel schools and Stanford University.

Island Holiday

"I was overwhelmed with the natural beauty of the islands," Mrs. Stemple said, "and with the magnificence of the hotels. Friends, who live in Honolulu, urged me to consider duplicating my Carmel shop there. But Carmel is home for me and my three children and the Islands are just perfect—for visiting." Mrs. Stemple owns the unique household accessories and gift shop at Dolores and Sixth.

Christmas Plans

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Giarratana are already preparing for Christmas. Arriving in plenty of time for the holiday will be their daughter, Patricia, and her husband, Donald Hitzl, who, since their marriage last June have been living in Huntsville, Alabama. Neil Giarratana, in his second year of graduate study at Harvard University, where he is working towards his M.A. in business administration, will take leave from Boston for home "within the hour of the beginning of Christmas vacation."

In Hawaii

Word comes from those indefatigable travelers, Lance and Adele Detroit, that for the moment and probably for the balance of the winter, they are basking in the sun of Honolulu.

Holly Ball Parties

With reservations for the Holly Ball, the gala event of the year sponsored by all chapters of the Children's Home Society, nearing a complete sell-out many parties preceding the ball are being planned.

Hosting individual chapter parties on the evening of December 12 will be Mr. and Mrs. Harold Saunders, for the Mother Goose Chapter; Dr. and Mrs. John Faia Jr., for the Littlebits Chapter; Mr. and Mrs. William Kennedy, for the Punch and Judy Chapter, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wigham, for the Winnie-the-Pooh Chapter.

Forty-Year Reunion

Together for Thanksgiving dinner for the first time in 40 years when they gathered around the festive table in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tittle were the hostess, Helen Carr Tittle, her brother, Richard Carr, and Mrs. Carr, now residents of Carmel, also another brother, David Carr of Walnut Creek, with his wife, and Mrs. Tittle's sister, Mrs. Thomas Roper, who was a houseguest.

Additional guests at the dinner party were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Anderson, former residents of Carmel who, since October, have been living at Laguna Beach. The Andersons have taken an apartment at the Hacienda Carmel until the first of the year. Lieutenant Joe Posey, a student at the Defense Language School, and Mrs. Jean McGill completed the party.

A Little More Steam Will Be Asset To 'Look Back In Anger'

The first night audience at the White Oaks Theatre sat clear through the second act before offering any applause, which might be attributed to the fact that Mary Bridget Mulkey, as Helena Charles, pulled a fast seduction of the hero when the lights went out. "Look Back In Anger" is a fast-moving, rather pretentious undertaking, which came off rather well for a school of the drama. To have seen this same play in London makes it difficult for any reviewer.

For such a wordy presentation, the five players acquitted themselves creditably, with no perceptible bloopers. Ron Mitchell, as the lead character, Jimmy Porter, could have put a little more power into his tirades. As a matter of fact, I thought that the restraint was not in keeping with the rest of the characters, either. A little more anger and fire could help considerably, and will probably be evidenced as the actors become more familiar with their characters.

The production was well staged, and the set was authentic enough for a sleazy flat in an English midlands town. The play itself is entertaining and well worth the trip up the Valley. The new theatre is in itself a masterpiece of acoustics, and should be adaptable to a wide variety of presentations in the future.

Seth Wyngate, as Jimmy's Welshman friend, and Mary Pattie, as Jimmy's wife, Allison, made an acceptable couple, with their platonic love affair, although nobody believes in such things anymore. The husband didn't mind, even though he made some lackadaisical suggestions that the two ought to go to bed together.

Mary Bridgit Mulkey, as ever, came through with a convincing performance, attesting to her popularity and versatility. I think, however, her seduction of her friend's husband was, as mentioned, a little too rapid in the circumstances. Don Laird, as Alison's father, was passably assertive.

Left off the program entirely was any notification of intermission between the acts, leaving newcomers to White Oaks wondering if they had time to go out for a cigarette. The regulars, of course, being old hands at the procedures, knew what to do and where to find the coffee. Some kind of announcement here would have helped put newcomers at their ease.

Technical direction, lighting, and properties left nothing more to be desired. The play is being presented every Friday and Saturday, with the curtain at 8:30 p.m., and when John Osborne's "Look Back In Anger" works up a little more steam, it will rate among the outstanding performances of this repertory company.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

We do have a delectable spread of new books this week, and about time! We had loads of books on order but for some reason unknown to the consumer, none were shipped. But they are beginning to come in now so let's all be happy.

THE POLYANTHUS is the title of a book by Roy Genders and it is the first book to be written exclusively about this gorgeous flower. It gives the various strains, the methods of cultivation, and the history of the plant. Having never been a gardener, this librarian came to California able to recognize at a glance the rose, the carnation, and the dandelion. Since moving here, the California poppy has been added to my list. The lovely pictures in this book should be a help in adding one more, the polyanthus. This is called sprouting a green thumb.

Cribbing a line from Gilbert and Sullivan, the title of the next book is THE MODEL MAJOR-GENERAL, a biography of Garnet Wolseley, by Joseph Lehmann. General Wolseley was a soldier in the days of British imperial power. Being stationed in Canada during the period of our Civil War, he came to this country to observe it firsthand and became a great admirer of General Lee and Stonewall Jackson. General Wolseley, this is your life.

The world's first known arsenic poisoner, this is the doubtful glory of a woman who lived during the reign of Louis XIV. Her name was Marie-Madeleine, Marquise de Brinvilliers. It seems that arsenic poisoning needs to be studied, so the lady practiced upon patients in the local hospital. After graduation she killed her father, her two brothers, her son and sundry other persons she grew tired of seeing about the place. The book about her is entitled ENCHANTING LITTLE LADY and it was written by Virginia Vernon.

A truly valuable book on dogs is the revised edition of THE COMPLETE DOG BOOK published by the American Kennel Club. Here are listed the complete show standards for each breed of dog, an absolute necessity for anyone planning to show a dog, plus photographs which speak louder than words.

Anglo-Norman history of the eleventh century is the subject of WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR by David Douglas, an emeritus professor of history in the University of Bristol. This is the first volume of a projected series of books on English monarchs. We shall hope to add later volumes as they appear.

AN INTRODUCTION TO HAWAII with pictures by Ansel Adams and text by Edward Joesting, is a book beautiful beyond words. If you have not yet visited those magic islands, this book will send you there, with keen anticipation and some knowledge of what you will see and the history behind it. The last part of the book is composed of information and advice on photography in the islands, what to use and how to use it, done by Ansel Adams himself.

Our new Christmas books are beginning to filter in, two this week, one of which we should mention here. Called CHRISTMAS MAGIC, it is all about making decorations and ornaments. The author is Margaret Perry. If you are planning to make things for Christmas, come in early. It is much easier to find the help you need for your activities. Later on all the books will be out and you may not be happy about it. We want you happy!

Count Marco Keeps Republican Women In Gales Of Laughter

BY CAROLYN ELSTOB

Mrs. W. Lincoln Noelle was unanimously elected president of the Carmel Republican Women's Club at the annual meeting and luncheon held at Highlands Inn on Monday and attended by 150 members and their guests. Count Marco was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Rody Holt, retiring president, presided at the brief business meeting during which all officers and directors slated by the nominating committee were enthusiastically endorsed and accepted by members.

The invocation was given by the Reverend Robert S. Morse, head of the York School for Boys.

Named 1st vice-president was Mrs. Bryce Barnard; second vice-president, Mrs. Kenneth MacPherson; recording secretary, Mrs. Steven Sassoon; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. C. Cronwall Jr.; membership secretary, Mrs. J. L. Hughes; and treasurer, Mrs. Jory Crain.

Mrs. Holt was complimented for the club's splendid work during the past campaign year by Stephen G. Magyar, who also thanked the membership for loyal support given him as a candidate for California State Senate. Following amusing comments upon the trials and tribulations of a political candidate, Mr. Magyar installed the new officers.

The speaker of the day was the much discussed columnist and one-time fashion designer, Count Marco. He was introduced by Mrs. Noelle as the author of "Beauty and the Beast." The diminutive speaker, it seemed to this listener, lauded man as a paragon rather than a beast, and woman as a quite stupid creature, completely lacking in intuition and, without resorting to cosmetics and trickery, far from being a "beauty."

Count Marco succeeded in keeping his audience in gales of laughter, as he suggested daily foot massage for the man of the house —that the little woman arise half an hour early to apply make-up, alluring garb and high heels before tiptoeing to the master's bedside with his morning coffee.

"Those women who look for jobs (outside the home) inevitably find themselves looking for another husband, and in the United States, statistics prove that 27,000,000 other women are after your husband," Count Marco asserted.

He further advised that children should be absent from the dinner table, except possibly on Sundays, when they might be introduced to their father for respectful conversation. On the other hand, in the case of a divorce, the children would be awarded to the father, who presumably will support them, and rear them properly, with the aid of a "live-in" housekeeper.

That Count Marco was serious seemed to the audience at Highlands Inn to be quite impossible. His thrusts at women of today, particularly American women, were delivered with a gleaming smile that brought laughter along with protest.

In one serious moment the speaker won whole-hearted applause when he voiced concern for today's juveniles.

"No youngster should be given a driver's license before he has won his high school diploma . . . teen-agers belong at home after 9 p.m., and it is the mother's job to keep them there . . . From babyhood, boys are taught to respect women, their mothers, their nurses, their teachers . . . It would be natural for them to respect and protect all women, if women do their part," he said.

Howard Sharpe

Word has been received of the death on November 16 of Lt. Howard Granville Sharpe (USA ret.) in the Long Beach Veterans Hospital following a month's illness.

Lt. Sharpe was born October 20, 1880, in Fort Griffin, Texas. He spent most of his life in the United States Army, following graduation from Dartmouth College; and a short period as a reporter on the Denver Post.

His army career included active service in the Spanish-American War; on the Mexican border; in the Philippines; and World War I.

In 1919 Lt. Sharpe retired from the army and bought a 300-acre ranch at Bixby Creek where he operated Rainbow Lodge.

He sold the ranch in 1951 and retired to Covina in Southern California.

A prolific writer of short stories and novels since his early youth, Mr. Sharpe used the pen name of Alfred D. Pettibone. His last book, "Rain in the Face," completed shortly before his death, and an earlier novel, "Flaming Sioux Frontier," were based upon his childhood memories of Chief Sitting Bull.

It was while still living at Bixby Creek, that Lt. Sharpe, an enthusiastic amateur zoologist, entomologist and archeologist, rediscovered the supposedly extinct southern sea otter.

Mr. Sharpe is survived by his wife, Mrs. Alice N. Sharpe of Covina; a daughter Mrs. Rosalind Sharpe Wall of Carmel; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Marilyn Tipton of Covina; two grandchildren and two step-grandchildren. His only son, Lt. William G. Sharpe, (USAF), was killed in action in World War II.

Funeral services were held on Saturday at Sawtelle Military Cemetery.

Carmel Architect Does Renderings Of Kennedy Grave

On exhibition in the National Gallery of Art in Washington D.C. is the design by Architect John Carl Warnecke for the late President John F. Kennedy's grave.

The exhibition comprises two models, seven photographs, 23 drawings and examples of the lettering to be used. A scale model showing the entire site including the Custis-Lee Mansion is the principal exhibit.

Eighteen framed renderings of the project by Architect Olof Dahlstrand of Carmel are also shown. Nine of the renderings, 20 by 30 inches each, illustrate progressively what the visitor to the grave will see, from the entrance to the cemetery, past the circular grass forespace and the elliptical overlook platform, to the grave terrace and the plot itself. The other nine are smaller sketch impressions.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

COAST HIGHWAY ENTICES

The drive down The Sur Coast from Carmel is more beautiful than ever. The early, abundant rains, have turned the hills to green and there are touches of fall color in the canyons and along the creeks and river.

A trip down the Coast Highway will also prove interesting to the seeker for unusual gifts.

A Christmas fair will be held one day only, December 12, from 11:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. at the Palo Colorado School. Here will be available, hand-crafted items made by the students. There will be Yule logs of eucalyptus bark, Christmas wreaths, bookends of rocks and shells, pottery pieces, tumbled rocks and scores of surprises.

Coast Gallery, where the works of more than 50 Big Sur artists are exhibited, announces a pre-Christmas sale. A ten percent discount will be given on any piece of sculpture, pottery, mosaic or other gift or decorator item. There is a handsome array of hanging pottery pieces, some shaped and colored like gourds, strung with cord and acorns; table centerpieces, in form of owls or fish, which, by placing a candle inside, cast delightful lights through a myriad of holes. There are also earrings, necklaces, pendants of highly imaginative design, each the work of a Big Sur artist. Garden sculptures, too, of materials that gather beauty as they weather on patio or terrace. On display, or shown on request, is a tremendous collection of original paintings, oils, water colors, etchings, all by nationally and world recognized artists.

The Phoenix gift shop, adjoining Nepenthe, houses any number of interesting items from Big Sur and other places around the world. There are crocheted hats made by Lolly Fassett—not just "fun" hats, but lovely, meticulously designed and fabricated chapeaux of colors and materials to blend with any costume. Pieces of fine jewelry and antique jewelry, stretch beads from West Germany, seed beads, nut beads, glass beads. Coats, dresses, jackets, the design and work of a Big Sur fashion designer. Wall mirrors rimmed with fragile, delicately colored sea shells, hanging lamps, pottery bells, leaded glass from a world famous glass maker, colored glassware from Mexico, an extensive collection of pottery pieces, which include cups, trays, mugs, plates, bowls, hanging vases. There are Watchamadoddles — animal marionettes and Whoziets—lovable little dollies. In the gourmet section, hams, cheese, nuts, herbs, candies. For coffee connoisseurs, one can choose, Mocha, Kona, Columbian, French Roast or Santos and have it ground in an antique coffee grinder.

Big Sur Bazaar has its unusual collection of items, too, to please the special taste and the special budget. Perhaps one wishes a gift for the garden—then choose from a group of bonsai trees, or a driftwood arrangement, or shells or stones.

Loma Vista Gardens feature an abundant selection of rare and colorful epiphyllum, and beautiful, flourishing tuberous begonias. The cacti available here are known and appreciated throughout many Western states because of the great variety of choice specimens.

Invitation may be obtained at no charge from either of these agencies. Door prizes will be awarded.

MPVS To Install Officers Tomorrow

The new board of directors will be introduced by Miss Ruth Blanchard, incoming president, after she receives the gavel from the retiring president, Mrs. Charles Jett, at the meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the Monterey USO. These officers will take over their duties in January.

MPVS members are reminded to bring to this meeting articles appropriate to the Christmas season. The tuberculosis sanitarium of Monterey County will welcome new or clean paperback novels, chess and checker sets and boards, jigsaw puzzles and playing cards. The Monterey Peninsula Bureau will receive non-perishable foods in cans, jars or sealed packages. Toys of any description that are clean and unbroken will be used in the Christmas sale at the MPVS Thrift Shop, 785 Broadway, Seaside, open daily except Saturday and Sunday from noon until 4 p.m.

Mrs. Charles Jett conducted the November meeting of the organization at which the members elected their officers for 1965 and allocated over $2,380 to community agencies for special projects. This meeting was followed by a luncheon where checks amounting to a total of $7,556 were presented to the representatives of those agencies which had been previously designated to receive the proceeds of the MPVS Flea Market held in October.

Miss Ruth Blanchard was elected to serve as the MPVS president for the coming year. Other officers who were elected to serve with her were Mrs. Lauris Jorgenson, vice president; Miss Irene Palmer, recording secretary; Mrs. H. D. Dabney, treasurer; and Mrs. Mary Thomas, corresponding secretary. Members of the nominating committee which was elected were Mrs. James Underhill, Mrs. L. K. Purcess, Mrs. Earl N. Oren, Mrs. J. B. Farrior and Miss Ethel Gilleland.

The finance committee report, submitted by Miss Blanchard included a presentation, for the final approval by members, of three requests for gifts. All of these were given affirmative votes. They were $500 for a Beacon House revolving loan fund; $500 for the Monterey Peninsula Junior Chamber of Commerce for improvements at Dennis the Menace Playground and $1,000 for the Community Chest.

The members also approved a request for Braille writers amounting to $180 and a gift to the Pacific Grove chapter of the American Field Service which sends high school students on foreign exchange scholarships.

Return To Denmark

It had been 13 years since Mrs. Aage Knudsen had paid a visit home when she flew to Copenhagen in September to renew acquaintance with her five sisters and their families, all living in Denmark's capital.

Just returned, Mrs. Knudsen beamed with enthusiasm. "It was the most wonderful of family reunions," she related, "Only one sister seemed changed to me, but within a few moments of my arrival she was the same as always."

Mrs. Knudsen found prosperity everywhere in Denmark. "The people of Copenhagen are gay and love entertainment," she told. "Restaurants are open around the clock, and there seemed to be music and dancing from dawn to dawn.

"The famous Tivoli Gardens were closed for the winter, but the theatres were all brightly lighted and crowded. My sisters had just the same labor-saving devices in their homes that we have here; and I actually found the food almost too rich. Food is, according to American standards, high priced; but furniture, cameras and furs, are less expensive. There are jobs for everybody. I heard no talk of war."

Mrs. Knudsen was delighted to see her niece, Gerly Jorgensen, who spent two years in Carmel with her uncle and aunt. While here, Gerly attended Carmel High School and Monterey Peninsula College, "And now she has a splendid position in Copenhagen, where she uses her English more than she does her native language," Mrs. Knudsen said.

Mrs. Knudsen went on to Sweden where she visited Mr. Knudsen's two sisters in Mal-o

It was originally planned that Mr. Knudsen would accompany Mrs. Knudsen on the holiday trip, but, unfortunately, three days before their departure Mr. Knudsen accidentally broke his foot and had to stay at home. On his birthday, October 23, Mr. Knudsen's birthday present was a telephone call from Denmark.

During her absence, Mrs. Knudsen's sixth sister, Miss Mariana Nielsen came to Carmel from Copenhagen to assist Mr. Knudsen in the Dolores Bakery, which the Knudsens own. Miss Nielsen, who came just for a three-month visit, has now decided to make Carmel her permanent home.

Eastern Christmas

Mrs. Julian von Meier will have two brand new experiences this Christmas. She will visit the east coast in winter and see her newest granddaughter, Alexandra von Meier, both for the first time.

Alexandra, born October 7, is the daughter of Kurt and Hildegard von Meier. Kurt, who is teaching at Princeton University this year, assures his mother that Alexandra is already a most articulate young lady, and that despite the inevitable ice and snow, grandma's welcome will be warm as California sunshine. Mrs. von Meier plans to leave Carmel on December 19.

Christmas In Mexico

A group of Carmelites is eagerly looking forward to spending the Christmas holidays in Alamos, the restored colonial mining town in the State of Sonora which is now a Mexican national monument.

Leaving here on December 18, by air, will be Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Smith and Mrs. Smith's daughter, Judy Hensel. The following day, by car, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Arriola and their son, Carlin, also Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Emery and Fred Klepich, will leave for Mexico. Hotel de los Tesoros will be headquarters for the group in Alamos.

On January 2, the Smiths and Judy will fly to Mexico City. They also plan to visit Morelia, Oaxaca and San Miguel de Allende before flying back to California.

Broaddus Reunion

Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Broaddus and their daughter, Zeala, enjoyed a completely surprising and happy Thanksgiving — a family reunion across thousands of miles that brought all the family, to grandfather's house—1964 fashion.

Doctor and Mrs. Broaddus have grown used to not expecting a Thanksgiving family reunion. But on Wednesday afternoon they had a long visit with their younger son, Bob (Lieutenant Colonel R.E. Broaddus), and his entire family, when Bob telephoned from Combat Development Command, Fort Lee, Virginia. Bob and his wife, Carol, and the 11-year-old twins, Bill and John, chatted with their grandparents. They told that Julie, 16, and Jim, 14, were in New York City for the holiday, having been chosen by their high school to represent it in the famous Macy Parade, as members of the band.

Jim and Bill have blossomed into fine performers on the clarinet and the trumpet, and Bill played a solo via telephone for his grandmother. The four younger Broaddus grandchildren had their first music lessons in their Carmel home, The Rose Bower, at Guadalupe and Ocean, in 1958-59, when they were students at Sunset and River Schools.

Robert Bower Jr., who is 19 years old and eldest of the children, is now in the army stationed at Fort Devons, Massachusetts.

When the Carmel Broadduses started worrying about the "extravagant" telephone reunion, Bob reassured them, "We've been enduring sub-standard housing here (at Fort Lee) for a year, in the upper story of a former barracks building, awaiting a promised home, so we have plenty of money left for home phone calls! I must tell you how much we all enjoy the Carmel Pine Cone that you have been sending us for the past two years. All of us read every word of it, every week." During their residence in Carmel Mrs. Robert Broaddus was active in the P.T.A. and the A.A.U.W., and has many local friends

Later, on the eve of Thanksgiving, the Broadduses' older son, Bernard, (Barney) arrived from Stockton for a surprise two-day visit. It was the first time in ten years that Barney had been able to have Thanksgiving at home with his parents.

And on Thanksgiving Day a phone call came from Stockton from still another member of the Broaddus family group. Bill, while not a Broaddus by birth, was, during his school days, a foster son and protege of Dr. and Mrs. Broaddus.

"His telephone call really gave the holiday the final touch of warmth and happiness for us," Mrs. Broaddus concluded.

At Home On The Mesa

Married in All Saints Church in Pasadena on November 14, the former Mrs. E. S. (Lodema) Murray and Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher, (USN ret.), two of Carmel's most popular and community-spirited citizens, are now getting settled in their home on Mesa Drive.

The wedding ceremony was followed by a reception in the home of Mrs. Fisher's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Walker of Pasadena, after which the Fishers motored to Palm Springs. Enroute to Carmel, the Fishers enjoyed the fun of Disneyland and stopped in San Luis Obispo for a few days visit with old friends.

Mrs. Fisher is active in the Carmel Republican Women's Club, the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services, the Visiting Nurses Association and the Community Hospital Auxiliary.

Admiral Fisher, holder of the Navy Cross, came to Carmel upon his retirement, after illustrious service in the U.S. Navy. He is president of the Carmel Citizens Committee, a member of the core committee of the Area Planning Commission, and chairman of the structures sub-committee of the Sunset Committee, a group of citizens appointed by Mayor Herbert Blanks to make recommendations to the city council on the development of a municipal cultural and community center.

Woman's Club Program

On December 7 the Carmel Woman's Club will have its general meeting at which the president, Mrs. Alexander W. Cleary, will present Ed Lark who will show and narrate a delightful film, "Sweden Year Round."

Mr. Lark has been interested in photography since he received his first movie camera when 16 years old. He has been making commercial and educational films since he was 19 and, after a year in Europe, his aim has been to help further understanding between the peoples of different nations. His education has been broadened by work at the University of California where he received a degree in mechanical engineering and he has studied both speech and voice while continuing his photographic career.

The hospitality chairman for this meeting will be Miss Dorothy Peacock and she will be assisted by Mrs. William E. Robinson, Mrs. George E. Black, Mrs. Ellis F. Meineke and Mrs. J. E. Wacksmith.

Presiding at the tea tables will be Mrs. Verne Skillman, Mrs. Fred Kane, Mrs. Lawrence Lyon and Miss Jane J. Downey.

New Arrivals

Amery Valcourd, the first child of Mr. and Mrs. William Burleigh, was born on November 23. Her mother tells that she now weighs seven pounds, six ounces, and has lots and lots of chestnut brown hair.

Mrs. Konigshofer

Mrs. Frances Konigshofer, a resident of Carmel for many years, was found dead in her home on Flanders Drive on Tuesday morning.

Death was apparently due to natural causes. Mrs. Konigshofer was found lying on the floor beside her bed by a close friend, Mrs. Jean Draper, who, noticing lights in the house at 11:30 o'clock, entered through the patio doors.

Mrs. Konigshofer was known to have had Thanksgiving dinner with her cousin, Mrs. Robert Shepherd of Carmel. Death probably occurred Thanksgiving night, according to the coroner's office.

Funeral arrangements are pending as Mrs. Konigshofer's husband, Jon Konigshofer, thought to be in Mexico, has not yet been located. Every effort is being made to reach him. He left here on his boat to enter the Mazatlan sailing race last month.

"I know a little garden-close
Set thick with lily and red rose
Where I would wander if I might
From dewey morn to dewey night . . ."

William Morris, English poet and artist, wrote this in 1853. If he were looking for a home in Carmel, we would promptly take him to see these three little gardens, all of which require more love than work:

A MINIATURE ENTRY COURT has an oak tree with hanging fuschias for its focal point, and the enclosed brick patio is shrub and flower-bordered, with an entrance to the master bedroom and 27 feet of window wall into the living room. The house which goes with it is an immaculate 2 bedroom, 2 bath home with an up-to-the-minute kitchen and a huge living room and fireplace, all newly carpeted and draped, and all this for only $35,000. Can't see where you could spend another penny!

THIS LOVELY BRICK HOME is smartly set off in the front by lawn and trimmed shrubbery, but the garden for wandering is in the rear, just off a wonderful lanai-patio room. Sunny, brilliant with flowers, even a tiny vegetable garden, this is really a delight. In one of our Best Areas, on Randall Way, it features 3 large bedrooms, 2 baths, full dining room. The price is only $49,500.

THIS BRICKED PATIO is also accompanied by a lanai room with a fireplace. Entry yard is attractively planned for little care, so you can spend all your time in the patio. This decorator's home has 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, shake roof; is carpeted and draped, with a sunny kitchen, entry hall, central heat and only $45,000. Location is near the Mission.

Finance Subcommittee Plans For Operating, Developing Arts Center

A program for the immediate financing of the operation of the Sunset School site after July 1 was presented to members of the Sunset Committee's subcommittee on finance last night. At the same meeting, the subcommittee also heard a report on a possible non-profit corporation which could undertake the development of the site as a municipal cultural and community center under a lease-back agreement with the city.

Mrs. E. H. Melvin prepared the report on the non-profit corporation.

She recommended that the City of Carmel should first clearly state the philosophy intended for the center since the amount of use, the level of financial performance and the quality of programming can be greatly influenced by such a statement.

Mrs. Melvin's report further stated that the non-profit corporation should consist of some 15 persons who will agree to serve for at least two to six years.

These persons should have the following qualifications:

1. A keen, knowledgeable and enthusiastic interest in the development of a creative arts center on the Sunset property.

2. An understanding and appreciation of at least one and preferably all of the arts involved.

3. Business judgment and practical knowledge of good legal and busines procedures.

4. Access to people of means and culture, who, because they value the cultural activities envisioned and would particularly like to see them developed in Carmel, would be willing to make substantial contributions to such a center.

Representatives of various city governmental bodies such as the city council, planning and arts commissions, also the city clerk, could be ex officio members of the corporation, perhaps with voting privileges.

WHEN

As to when the non-profit corporation should be formed, Mrs. Melvin suggested that this be done as soon as feasible and more or less by spontaneous negotiation between responsible persons interested in seeing a creative arts center in the Carmel area.

These persons should draw up by-laws stating the qualifications and term of office of persons making up the body and incorporate for the purpose of entering into a lease-back contract with the city to finance, build and operate such a center she gave as procedure on how the group be formed.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The responsibilities of the corporation she suggested could be

1. To develop plans for a center to serve the needs of the non-profit cultural organizations of the area.

2. To choose a suitable architect to submit a master plan for the center's development for the approval of the city council and the planning and arts commission.

3. To enter into a suitable lease-back contract with the City of Carmel to raise the necessary funds to build and operate the center according to approved plans, also according to the terms of the contract.

CITY'S ROLE

In outlining the above contract, Mrs. Melvin defined the city's role in the development of the center, also city controls that could be stated in the contract.

For example, the contract could specify the extent and type of buildings and developments, also specify that such facilities be built and operated in accordance with the city council and planning commission's adopted policies.

In addition, programming activities and operation of the center could be required by the contract to meet the specified philosophy formulated by the city council and standards set by the arts commission.

Thirdly, in the event that municipal offices and parking facilities were placed on the property, on a temporary basis, it should be clearly agreed in the contract that such facilities would be removed when the time schedules set up by the agreed-upon master building plan should so require.

In conclusion, Mrs. Melvin said that many variations of the above proposals are possible in regard to the number of members of the corporation and their terms of office. More sharing of city and non-profit financing was possible, she indicated. This could take the form of the city maintaining the center's buildings, paying architectural fees or sharing parking lot income.

FINANCING OF OPERATION

Dr. James Gilman, chairman of the subcommittee on finance, presented the report outlining a program for the immediate financing of the operation of the Sunset School site after the city takes possession on July 1, 1965. This program included the following possible sources of income to the city. Parking; rental of space to various cultural groups; rental of auditorium.

While not directly income-producing, the city could utilize space for the building inspector's office (now costing $125 monthly rent) and temporary use by police department during construction of contemplated new police station.

PARKING PLANS

He gave three plans for obtaining parking lot revenue. These were based on per car parking rates of 35 cents an hour; $1.50 a day; and $15 or $17.50 a month. He proposed the parking lot for 120 cars at the north end of the Sunset site.

Dr. Gilman's first plan assumed a 60 percent transient occupancy of the 120 parking stalls. This would result in income of $1,512 per month of $18,144 a year.

His second plan proposed that 40 stalls be leased for $17.50 a month and 60 percent transient occupancy of the rest. This plan would bring in $1,708 per month to the city, or $20,496 a year.

His third plan dealt only with monthly rentals of all spaces at $15 per month. This would result in income of $1,800 per month, or $21,600 a year.

However, the first two plans would require a toll collector, Dr. Gilman's report stated. Therefore annual income from these plans would be reduced by $7,560, the yearly salary of the attendant. The net profit from these two plans, respectively, would then be $10,584 and $12,936. Income from the third plan would be unchanged as no attendant would be required.

OTHER INCOME

A total of $1,200 was given by Dr. Gilman as annual revenue from the rental of Sunset auditorium. Added to this would be income from office or meeting place rentals which he projected at $6,000.

Combining the parking and rental incomes, then deducting expenses, Dr. Gilman arrived at the following net annual incomes from the Sunset property: first plan, $4,421; second, $6,993; third, $15,557.

Yearly expenses in addition to the parking lot attendant, he estimated as follows: water, $110; telephone, $114; P.G. and E., $1,197; custodian, $5,232; repair and upkeep $3,500; insurance, $3,000.

He based these estimates on cost to the school district of operating Sunset School during 1963-64 and took 25 percent of the school district's costs for water, telephone and P.G. and E., kept the district's costs on the other items.

Lastly, Dr. Gilman's report proposed that the parking lot be developed in accordance with the planning commission and council's adopted policies for surface parking areas.

He concluded with the following recommendations: that city engineer prepare a parking lot plan and design an entrance and exit on the northeast corner of the site; the street department to do the necessary work; control and operation jurisdiction to be under the street department; that the city council decide whether or not they will require off-street parking by the merchants in the central business district.

If the council does decide on the off-street parking, Dr. Gilman recommended adoption of his third plan. If not, he recommended his second plan.

CARMEL H.S. FOOTBALL TEAM FETED BY LIONS CLUB

Ted Fehring, who presided, complimented the boys on finishing the season as co-champions in the Mission Trails Athletic League.

Mr. Fehring also praised members of the CHS Band who, resplendent in their new uniforms, joined 40 other high school bands in providing rousing music at half time during the Cal-Minnesota game on the Berkeley field.

Each member of the varsity team will be presented with a gold football, a token of esteem from the Lions Club. A plaque was presented to Hadley Hicks for his contribution to Carmel High students, a speech instructor, as well as football coach.

TEEN-AGERS TO CONDUCT MDAA 'TAG DAY'

Carmel teen-agers are going to conduct a "Tag Day" for muscular dystrophy on Saturday, according to Paul T. Artellan, area chairman for the muscular dystrophy association fund drive.

Members of the Carmel Youth Center, under the chairmanship of their president, Pam Baldwin, also the Carmel High School fire chemistry class, led by Jeff Williams, will participate in the event. They will be stationed throughout the business area with muscular dystrophy canisters and be identified by MDAA tags.

Mr. Artellan also states that the Carmel American Legion will have a "wishing well" for donations placed at the northeast corner of Ocean and Dolores. This will be manned by legionnaires and their wives.

Stamp Club Party

The Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club will hold its annual Christmas party on Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the faculty room of Carmel High School. A short showing of slides of U.S. Postal history, from the American Philatelic Society, will precede the social program.
